in FlashLogger. This will be stored in the last sector of Flash. LogReader will then store a copy of this cursor to know where the dump ends

- FlashCursorStore: This will store and load FlashCursor into flash. FlashLogger will use to load cursor at startup and to store new cursor as it logs. LogReader will use it to Load cursor in instance variable "end".

- LoggingTask will own the single instance of FlashLogger here is how system will look

